State Relations coordinates the activities of the university on matters relating to legislative consideration of the state budget and policy issues. Staff members serve as the liaison to the Higher Education Coordinating Commission, other executive branch agencies, and the Oregon Legislature, monitoring legislative and policy initiatives. They also manage the university's advocacy program and staff legislative committees of the UO Foundation Board of Trustees and UO Alumni Association Board of Directors.

An aerial photograph of a university campus, likely the University of Oregon, showing various academic buildings, green spaces, and a large stadium in the foreground. The campus is surrounded by dense greenery and mountains in the distance under a cloudy sky. The text "Supporting and elevating work of faculty." is overlaid in white on the center of the image.

Supporting and elevating work of faculty.

A large, leafy tree in the foreground with a multi-story building in the background. The tree's branches are thick and spread out, partially obscuring the building. The building has a classic architectural style with arched windows and a central entrance with a set of stairs. The overall scene is outdoors, likely on a university campus.
