

Jim Bouse, Office of the Registrar

Faculty Advisory Council seat

Dear colleagues,

I am seeking a two-year Senate term or service on the Faculty Advisory Council. I have been at UO for the last 25 years working in a hub of service to support student success, academic policy and technology in the Office of the Registrar and the larger SSEM division. I have represented our division on the University of Oregon Strategic Planning steering committee and co-chaired the strategic plan section to “Attract high quality, diverse students and promote student access, retention, and success”.

I have also served as president of my national professional organization, AACRAO (American Association of Collegiate Registrars and Admissions Officers). This position allowed me to advocate for legislation at the national level to support our students and higher education. It also allowed me to promote and influence higher education serving software companies to address systemic inequities and accommodate the needs of gender and pronoun preferences.

If elected, I plan to advocate for UO’s mission to promote student success throughout the entire student lifecycle and the support of our goals to promote higher education as a necessary societal good that is needed now more than ever. Continuing to raise our profile as a go-to resource to serve the people and the state of Oregon through wise growth and strategic directions of our programs is a long-term goal I wish to pursue.

Jim Bouse
