

Raghuveer Parthasarathy, Physics

Faculty Advisory Council position (CAS- Natural Sciences: Term 2023-2025):

I've been a faculty member at UO since 2006, in the Physics Department. My research, teaching, and service activities all intersect broad swaths of the university -- my research connects to colleagues in biology and chemistry as well as my fellow physicists, much of my teaching and public writing target non-scientists including students from many majors, and I've served on varied committees such as the graduate council and library committee. As such, I believe I could contribute to the FAC not only by providing my own perspectives but also by conveying the thoughts and experiences of many others.
