

Stacy Williams-Wright, College of Design

Faculty Advisory Council seat

Stacy Williams-Wright received her bachelor's degree from University of Oregon. She has 20 years of experience at the University of Oregon. Before that she served in Higher Ed at Oregon State University and also worked in Atlanta, GA with corporate and legal settings with USA Interactive/Ticketmaster and a large legal firm. She spent 18 years in progressively responsible jobs with the Vice President for Research and Innovation at the UO and has been with the College of Design for one year as Assistant Dean of Finance and Operations. She has served on various committees and work groups at the UO including the Faculty Advisory Committee, the OA Council, published several institutional Cognos reports including ICC standard calculation report that had not existed at the UO previously, and served on the working group that led to the creation of the Talapas high performance computing node formerly in the Research Core Facilities, that won a VPRI Award for Outstanding Group Achievement.