

Anthony Delsanter – Candidate Statement

My name is Anthony Delsanter, a recent University of Oregon alum turned staff member. While my time at the UO has been limited, I aspire to bring a new and fresh perspective to the university and its shared governance, by drawing on the knowledge brought from numerous experiences through my undergraduate and graduate studies as well as my background in language, culture, and education.

It is my belief that the university and life within any university is everchanging and truly a dynamic process that plays a vast role in the creation of tomorrow's future. In this, it is imperative to analyze multiple perspectives, synthesize solutions and generate results that place us at the forefront of the curve and allow us to achieve our academic mission.

I believe that these skills, as well as those that I am developing in my current role, are well tailored towards creating a UO that is well balanced and works for all who choose to call campus home, work, and/or school. Should I be selected to serve, it is my utmost goal to put the well-being of students and my fellow coworkers first as we all must pull together in one direction to see the change we wish to be.
