

David Fowler, UO Libraries

David Fowler is a senior librarian, and has been at the University of Oregon since 2006. He currently serves as the collection management librarian in the Collection Services department, where he oversees library contracting and the acquisition of electronic resources. He has an undergraduate degree from the University of Alaska, Anchorage and an MLS from the State University of New York, University at Albany.

"I am very interested in the open seat on the Intercollegiate Athletics Advisory Committee. I have been a long-time attendee of Duck athletic events, and have had the privilege of meeting some of the athletes and coaches involved. I'd like to get more involved in the policy end, and would work to learn the nuts and bolts of the UO athletics operation and to help to guide it."